FOREWORD

The 1940 Austinian aims to portray through its pictures and writing youth in the many phases of school life. As you turn the pages of our yearbook, we hope you will catch the spirit of the theme—Youth's Journey through Austin High School. Each student is on this journey and is benefiting personally through a larger building, an enriched curriculum, increased athletic facilities, and a broad activity program. All these full and happy experiences, reflecting the growth and progress of our high school, are preparing youth to take his place in the community.

Treasured Memories of Our High School Days . .

A spirit of friendliness pervades Austin High School. Just as business and social life offers opportunities for meeting and working with people, so there are unlimited opportunities in classes, clubs, and in the gymnasium for pleasant contacts of youth in his journey through high school.

Youth will long remember the friendly relationships he has had with administrators, faculty, and his classmates.

• With a new eight hundred thousand dollar addition to our million dollar high school building, our public school system may be characterized by the words, "growth" and "progress." A new junior college and athletic field stadium are also the physical expression of the progress made by our school for the youth of the community. One thousand six hundred eighty students represent the enrollment in the junior-senior high school. Efficient faculty members guide this student body on their journey. Youth is benefiting by this evident growth and progress.

The Staff of the Austinian believes that Youth and all his activities in high school this year are of interest to you. As a record of this journey we give you in pictorial and written form the theme of the 1940 AUSTINIAN, Youth's Journey Through Austin High School.

YOUTH'S JOURNEY

On Our Journey Through Austin High School Life

Youth reflects the student life at Austin High

A Journey With Friends

The six years that Youth spends in the junior-senior high school can be compared to a journey in the world about us. In the high school, as in the journey of life, Youth meets obstacles which can be conquered only by determination and the will to do right. When Youth comes into the seventh grade, the goal of graduation appears difficult and steep. However, when the twelfth grade is reached, he can look with pride and satisfaction to his accomplishments. Youth's friendships formed on this journey are valued memories through the years.

• The growth, development, and progress of the Austin public schools may be attributed to the interest, enthusiasm, and untiring efforts of our Board of Education.

Eight citizens of the community give freely of their time to the educational interests of youth on their journey through the local public schools culminating with graduation from the senior high school. This year the Board of Education has had the added responsibility of the construction of the new eight hundred thousand dollar high school addition including a junior college as well as the construction of a new stadium at the athletic field.

Ever alert to the necessity of meeting the educational demands of a rapidly growing community, each member of the Board of Education is to be commended for his efforts. Youth is grateful to these progressive citizens.

The members of the Board of Education and their years of service to the school system are: W. I. Bergman, nine years; E. C. Banfield, thirteen years; R. C. Alderson, sixteen years; Brooks Cutter, three years; R. H. Daigneau, four years; Lloyd Lilygren, three years; and H. O. Westby, four years.

Superintendent S. T. Neveln, admired by the student body for his sincerity and genuine friendliness, is now serving his nineteenth year as superintendent of the public schools.

S. T. NEVELN

A Message From Our Superintendent

• Our entire life is a journey. We are all on a long journey. Youth and high school are just the beginning of the journey. The significant factors of the journey are: the place we start from, the panorama along the way, and the quality of the goal.

A journey of a thousand miles is begun by a single step, and it is made up of interludes. What your journey through life will be depends upon what you make of each step and each interlude. I hope your journey through high school will develop in you sterling character, high ambition, clear vision, undaunted courage, intelligent initiative, and keen judgment and discrimination. What you do and see and hear and assimilate on the journey through high school will determine what your life will be like when you are done with high school. Put the best into your journey through high school and the best will be yours. I can think of nothing much better for you than a busy and useful life.

S. T. NEVELN,
Superintendent

Our Administrators Guide Us

L. J. GUSTAFSON

• "Youth," said George Bernard Shaw, the noted English writer, "is a wonderful thing. What a crime to waste it on children."

Looking back over a lifetime of achievement, Shaw is entitled to make such a statement. Perhaps anyone from the vantage point of old age can call up nostalgic memories of youth—memories of friends made and friends lost, opportunities taken and others which eluded the grasp, and golden experiences enjoyed or ignored. Youth's journey through high school provides a series of experiences, and happy associations each one of which either adds to his stature or takes away.

The public school of the United States is a great institution and proving ground for youth; it lies within the power of each individual to make it truly meaningful to himself.

On Our High School Journey

• In prospect the journey through high school seems long and difficult. In retrospect it is but a very short span on life's highway. By the time one has finished high school, he should have acquired certain habits, attitudes, and ideals which mark him as a desirable and useful member of society.

Youth's journey through high school may be a pleasant and invaluable experience, unlocking doors to a limitless world of knowledge. The effect it has on each individual is dependent upon the point of view he adopts.

"Before the temple of Excellence the immortal gods have placed labor; and the way to it is long and steep, and at the commencement rough; but when the traveler has arrived at the summit, it then becomes easy, however difficult it was at first."—Hesiod

Senior High School World

• The senior high school boasts an enrollment of 823 students this year. The tenth grade has 270 members, the eleventh grade 313, and the twelfth grade, 240 members.

A student council composed of representatives from each home room meets regularly each week. Clayton Gute is president of the council; Stephen Wright, vice president; and Norma Elmer, secretary. Mrs. Blanche Black is the official faculty adviser.

In addition to the student council officers, there are class officers and advisers for each senior high school class.

All problems pertaining to the senior high school homerooms are discussed at the council meetings. Among the projects the council was responsible for this year, was the efficient distribution of Thanksgiving baskets to families in the community.

Our Journey of Memories

• As freshmen, we who are now members of the Class of 1940, were just beginning a four year journey in search of learning and guidance. A year later we had been promoted into the senior high school and were well accustomed to the journey.

However, as juniors, with Miss Lura Lynn Straub, Miss Henriette Liboz, and Mr. Ray Wescott, as our advisers, we found thrills awaiting us as we produced our extraordinary, successful class play and entertained the seniors at our prom.

This year the production of "The Youngest" culminates our work for Austin High School and brings us near Commencement. We are proud to be the first to be graduated from the new auditorium.

With this we shall have come to the end of a journey which has been made pleasant by a faculty and administration who have been considerate and helpful at all times. To them we say, "Thank you."

• Readin' n' 'Ritin' n' 'Rithmetic — may be aptly applied to the work of the teacher training department. Sixteen girls who have come from neighboring towns and cities are enrolled in the course this year, directed by Miss Hazel G. Murray.

Practice teaching has been an experience for these girls. They first started by observing in the grade schools in Austin. Then they went into group work which was followed by room teaching in the grade schools and in the junior high school.

In the spring they spend two weeks teaching in the country schools which is followed by six weeks of spring primary. The girls also have special training in art, music, physical education, and speech. Upon graduation, they receive a certificate to teach in the rural schools of Minnesota.

This year the students formed what they called the "Three R's Club." The officers were: president, Evalyn Cooper; vice president, Valoris Williams; secretary-treasurer, Marcella Mentel.

Junior High School World

• Entering upon the threshold of their school careers, junior high students are enthusiastic about the outlook of what the future has for them.

Eight hundred and fifty-seven boys and girls are enrolled in the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades this year. Their student cabinet consists of representatives chosen by each home room group. Thomas Clareson was president of the junior high school cabinet. This organization, which meets once a week, acts as a clearing house for all problems. It also originates and carries out campaigns to benefit the school.

Among the organizations in the junior high school to which students belong are: the Junior Friendship Club, the Junior High School National Honor Society, the What Knot Club, the Campers Club, and the Marionette Club. Many students are also enrolled in the musical organizations.

The enrollment of the seventh grade is 268. The eighth grade has 242 students. The ninth grade has 348. The class advisers are: seventh grade, Miss Rachel Anderson, Mr. Everett Schroeder; eighth grade, Miss Edna Martini, Mr. Sedoris MaCartney; the ninth, Miss Katharine Meier, Mr. Willard Hardy.

Here the youngest students of Austin High School are initiated into three important years of school life.

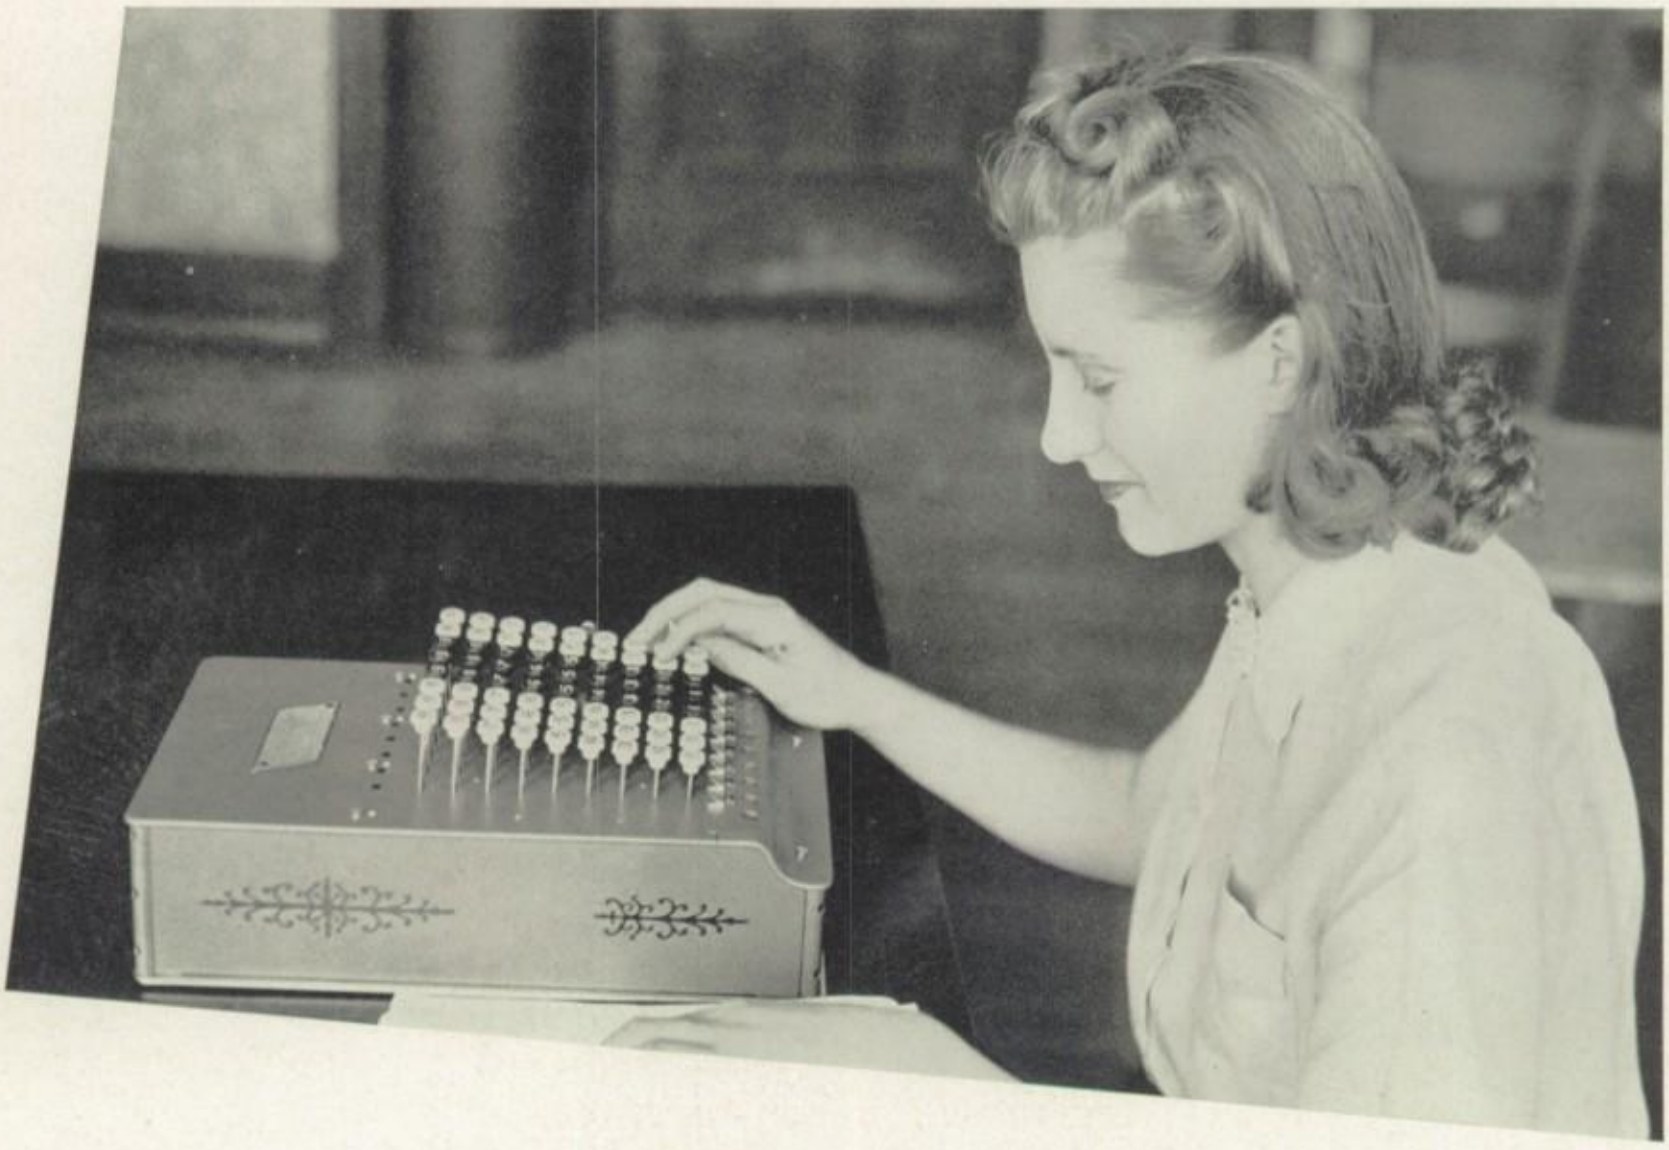
Classroom activity has the attention of Youth

A Journey to Our Classes

Youth, as he "drinks from the cup of knowledge," experiences classroom activities that parallel the occupations of the world. The new school addition will provide ample room for the development of all his interests. Science, home making, art, music, and industry offer opportunities for moulding his personality and building his character. In the classroom Youth is taught the essentials in preparation for future citizenship. Upon graduation, Austin High School students will take their rightful place in the community with practical knowledge and an enriched cultural background.

• Gaining experience in secretarial work and commercial studies preparatory to positions in business has an appeal to many students of Austin High School. They learn how to operate office machinery with speed and accuracy. Shorthand, bookkeeping, comptometer, and typing are some of the subjects invaluable to office efficiency. The high school graduate completing these courses satisfactorily is prepared for a career in the business world.



Preparing For The Business World

The Native Tongue

• Learning the fundamentals of the English language through the study of grammar, is a primary purpose of the English courses. Correct usage in speaking and writing as well as a cultural appreciation of the literature of the ages are an important feature of classroom activity.

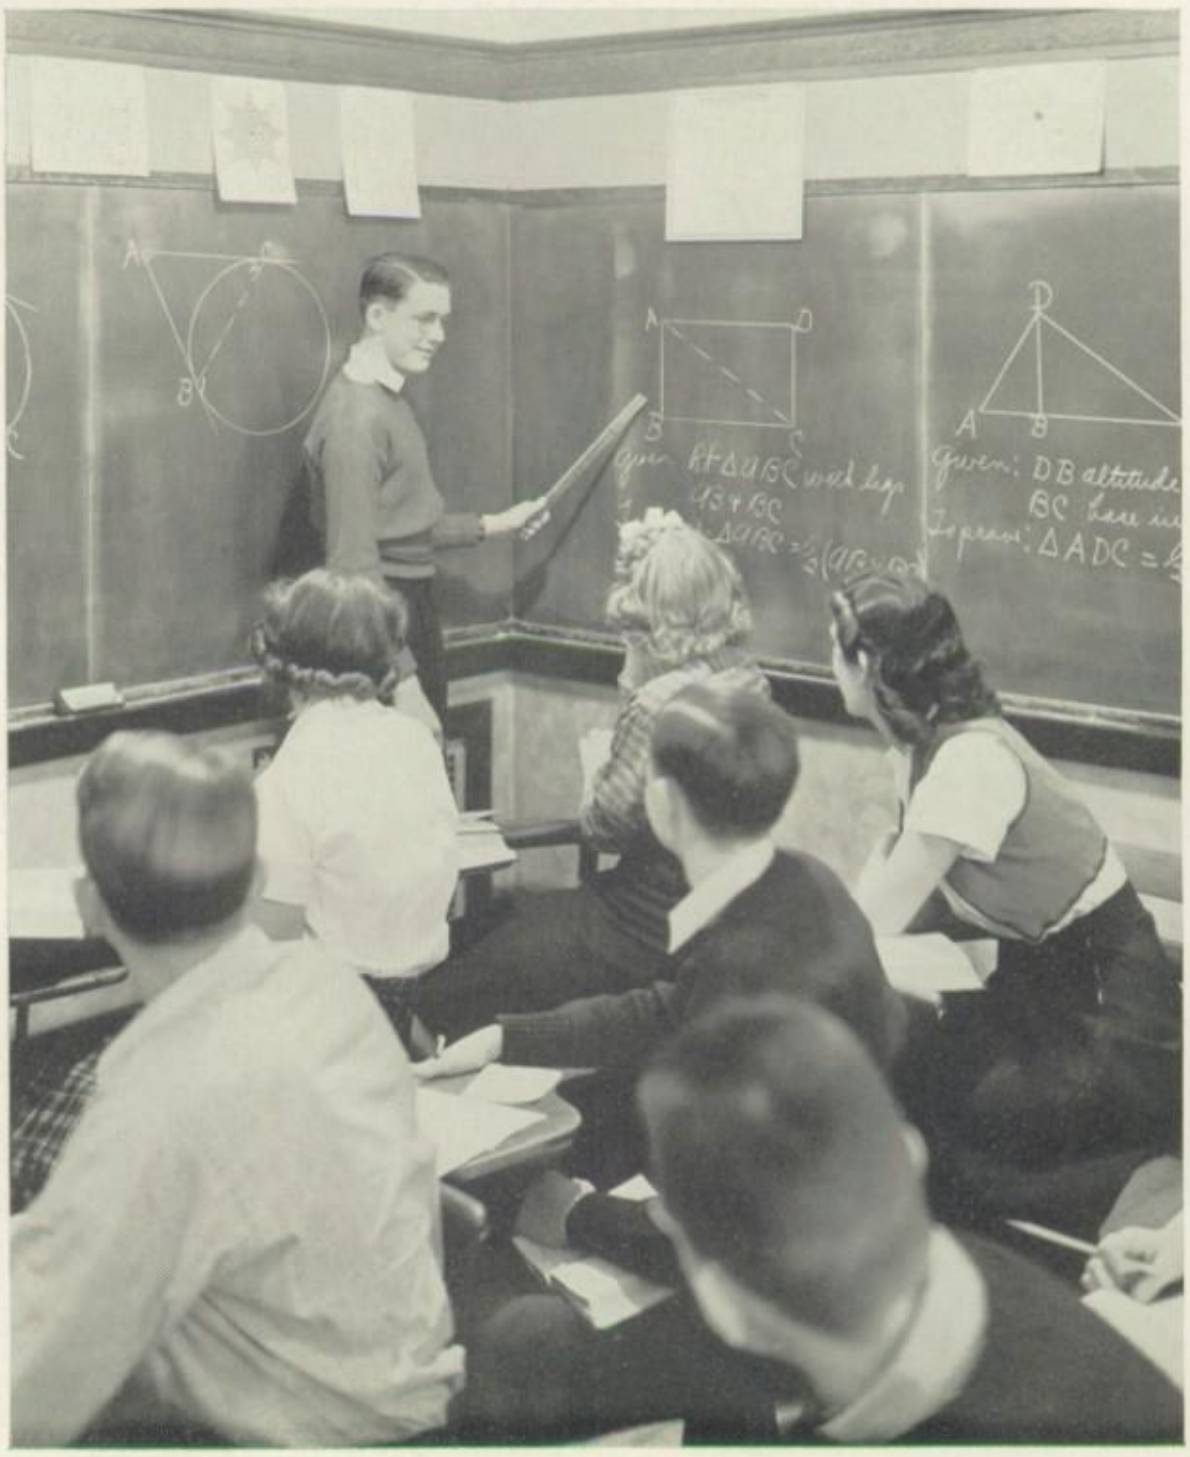
Solving Problems

• In our high school the elective courses offered in mathematics are algebra, plane geometry, advanced algebra, solid geometry, and trigonometry.

Here we see James Wilson demonstrating to a group of plane geometry students how to find the area of a rectangle by dividing one-half the base times the altitude.

In geometry one studies the certain kinds of figures which exist in the works of nature and in the constructions of man. This subject is taught not only for knowledge, but for enabling boys and girls to express their thoughts accurately and to reason correctly. The figures in geometry are all drawn with the ruler and compass.



The Pages of Time

• Richard Snell, Jeanne Weseman, La-Vonne Ward, and Orpha Mae McFarland are shown at the right reading the American Observer in social science class. Reading timely happenings prepares us so that we can better take an active part in our government as intelligent, useful citizens.

Social science deals with problems of federal, state, and local government. Other topics studied in these classes are: transportation, insurance, buying and selling products, the home, and the family.

Studying History

• "History is philosophy teaching by example. Its two eyes are geography and chronology."

With that thought in mind, map discussion is an integral part of any course in history. Of course, there are other important things studied in the history class room besides maps. There are discussions, oral and written reports, and tests.

Here we see Lewis Anderson pointing to the map of England while Beverlee Webber, Alex Miller, and Betty Jo Weseman look on.

In history the problems of our forefathers are brought vividly before us, and in this way should help youth, who will become the future leaders of America, in solving their problems of universal importance.

Enjoyment In The Sharing Of Ideas

• With never a dull moment in public speaking class, students find themselves preparing for expression in the social and business world. In the top picture, Stanley Howard is addressing his classmates in a convincing manner.

Music plays an important role in the day's schedule for high school boys and girls who so elect the course. Pictured to the bottom left are: James Swenson, Lewis Neubauer, Eunice Lucas, Donald Peterson, Roger Gillam.

Art offers many opportunities for self-expression. Here we see in lower right picture Walltrout Krueger and Lynn Brewster making a free-hand sketch.

• Latin, French, and Spanish are of interest to a large number of students on their journey through high school. These languages furnish excellent training for understanding English and in preparation for college.

In the picture below, a Latin Class is interested in "Old Italia." The first year the work is primarily grammar. The second year's study consists of translation.

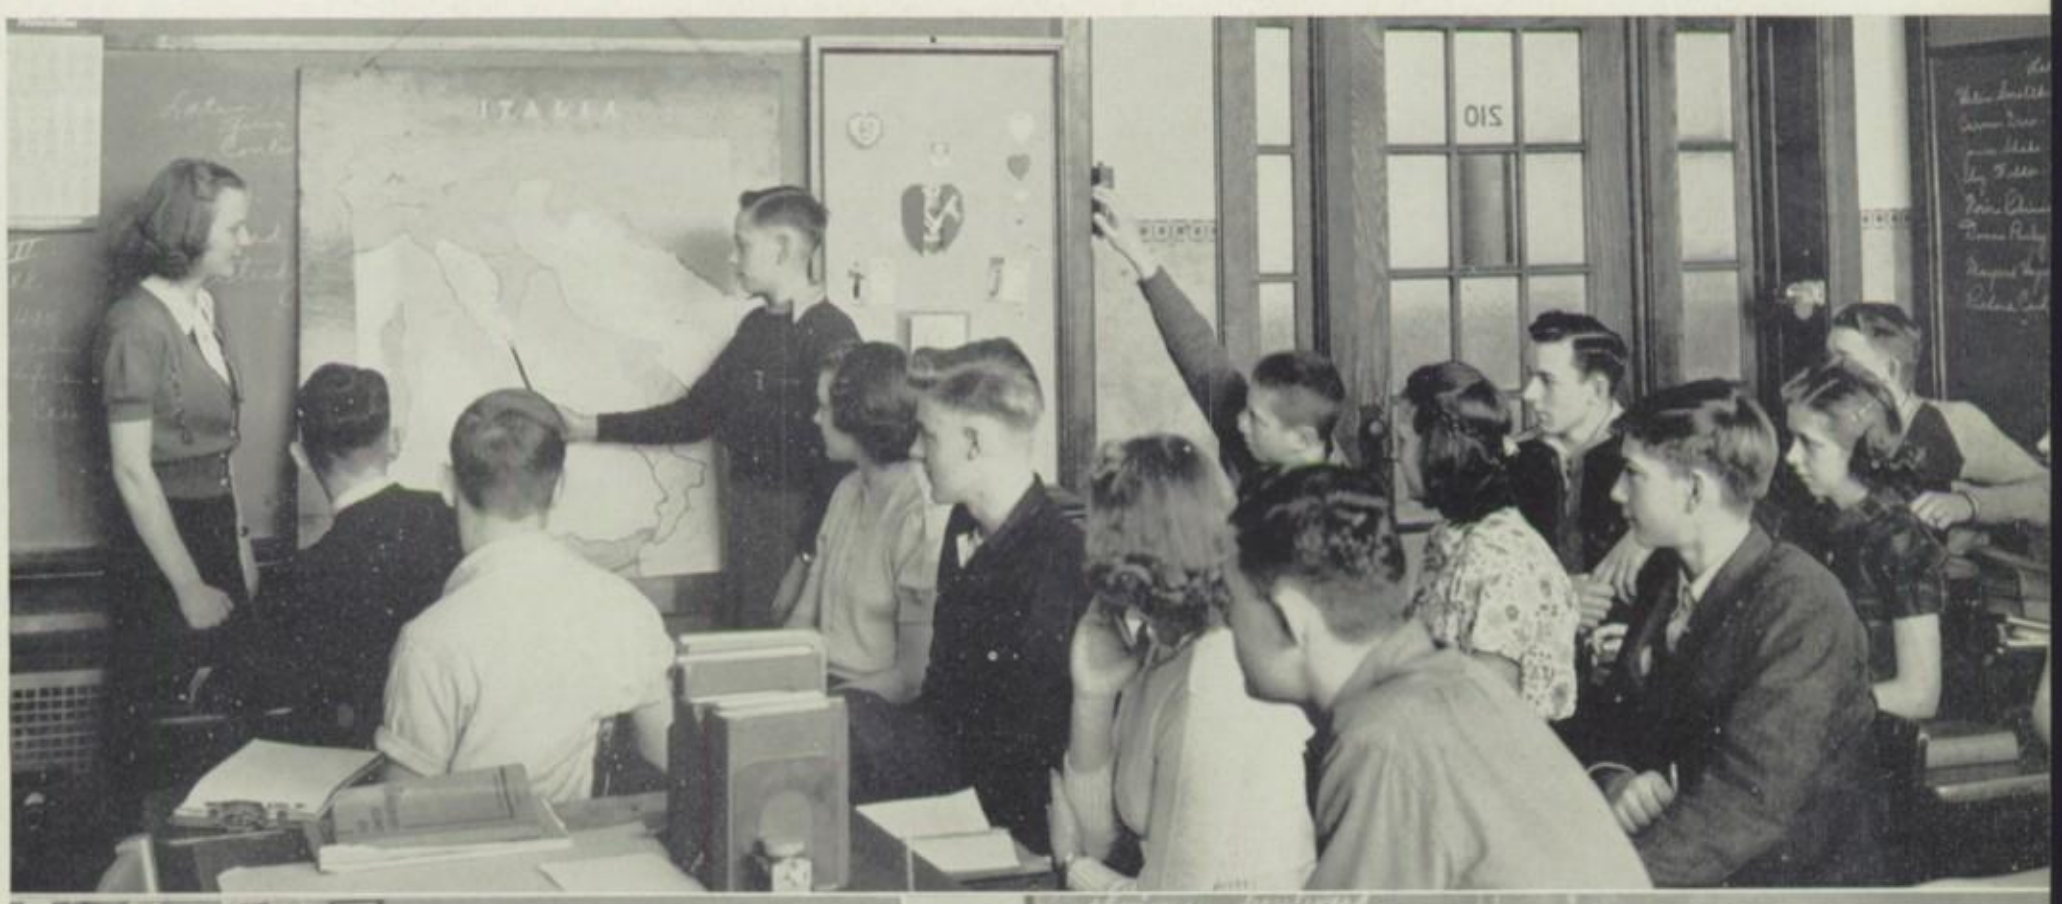
Knowing Other People Through Languages



Of Interest To All Of Us

• Peace and quietness prevail in the high school library as shown by the picture at the top of the page. The library is a popular place of study.

Part-time apprenticeship trains youth for employment. Attending school and working at a job in a local place of business is the daily routine activity of these students, some of whom are pictured in the lower left.

In the lower right is a typical safety patrol scene with Wayne Stevens on duty. Safety education consists of a ninth grade course for two weeks, the work of the bicycle patrol, and the safety patrol.

They Are A Busy Group

• One of the busiest places is the journalism classroom. Here young journalists learn the secret of writing for publication. In the upper right is pictured Viola Hoffman, Franklin Baier, Alice Mae Ankeny, Frederick Coleman, and Marcella St. Peter.

The primary purpose of the Lost and Found department is to assist students in regaining their lost articles. It also acts as an information bureau. Pictured in the lower right are: Eunice Weis, Elna Jacobsen, Gladys Youngdahl, Mary Catherine Soper, Betty A. Nelson, Muriel Hunter, Phyllis Anderson, Maverette Barrick. Jeannette Smith is at the desk.

Service To Others

Investigating Energy, Matter, And Life

• Typical of the study of general science is the classroom scene at the top of the page. Dean Olson, a ninth grade student, is performing an experiment in the study of the municipal water system. Astronomy, air, water, matter, energy, heat, electricity, sound, light, alcohol, and sewage disposal are some of the topics of discussion in the class.

Circulation in the human body proves interesting to biology students as shown in the lower picture. Genevieve Austin, by means of a chart, is explaining the flow of blood from the heart to the veins. Through the study of biology the students become familiar with the plant and animal kingdoms.

Discovering Truths About Science

• A classroom demonstration for producing chlorine gas in chemistry class is in progress in the upper picture. The students giving the demonstration are: Mary Jean Barrett, Robert Hill, David Christensen, and Norma Elmer. The study of chemistry deals with matter and the changes it may undergo.

Scientists of tomorrow! Physics presents an interesting as well as practical knowledge of heat, motion, sound, electricity, and also the physical changes in matter. Experimenting with electricity in the lower picture are: Allen Foster, Betty Hanson, Beverlee Webber, Betty Jo Weseman, Clayton Gute, and Rayburn Ruble.

• Boys taking auto mechanics find themselves able to repair automobiles and care for cars. They learn from the actual experience of repairing cars as seen in the picture below with Don Peterson, Thomas Dunlap, Don VanDenover, Fay Yarwood, Paul Sathre, and Dale Johnson at work in the shop.

In the lower picture among those at work in the general metals class are: Frederick Coleman, Arthur Hemphill, George Becker, and Herbert Johnson. Students in this class learn sheet metal, drafting, steel turning, oxy-acetylene, and electric welding.

Trained Hands Do Useful Jobs

• The boys as shown in the top picture are working at the composing tables and type cases, doing the school printing.

Woodworking classes construct cedar chests and other types of furniture. Beginning students learn how to use and treat advanced hand tool work. The center picture is a typical group of this class.

The lower picture shows an architectural class. Boys learn to scale copies of house and floor plans.

Today's Learners--- Tomorrow's Experts

• Willing workers in the above pictures prepare the food for students and faculty members who find it difficult to go home for lunch or for those who live in rural areas. At the above left are Eunice Underland and Virginia Olson buttering buns preparatory to serving.

At the above right is Mary Meyer watching the food cook and correcting the flame of the gas range.

The lower picture shows the noon hour serving in the cafeteria. The average number served each day is approximately seventy-five or one hundred.

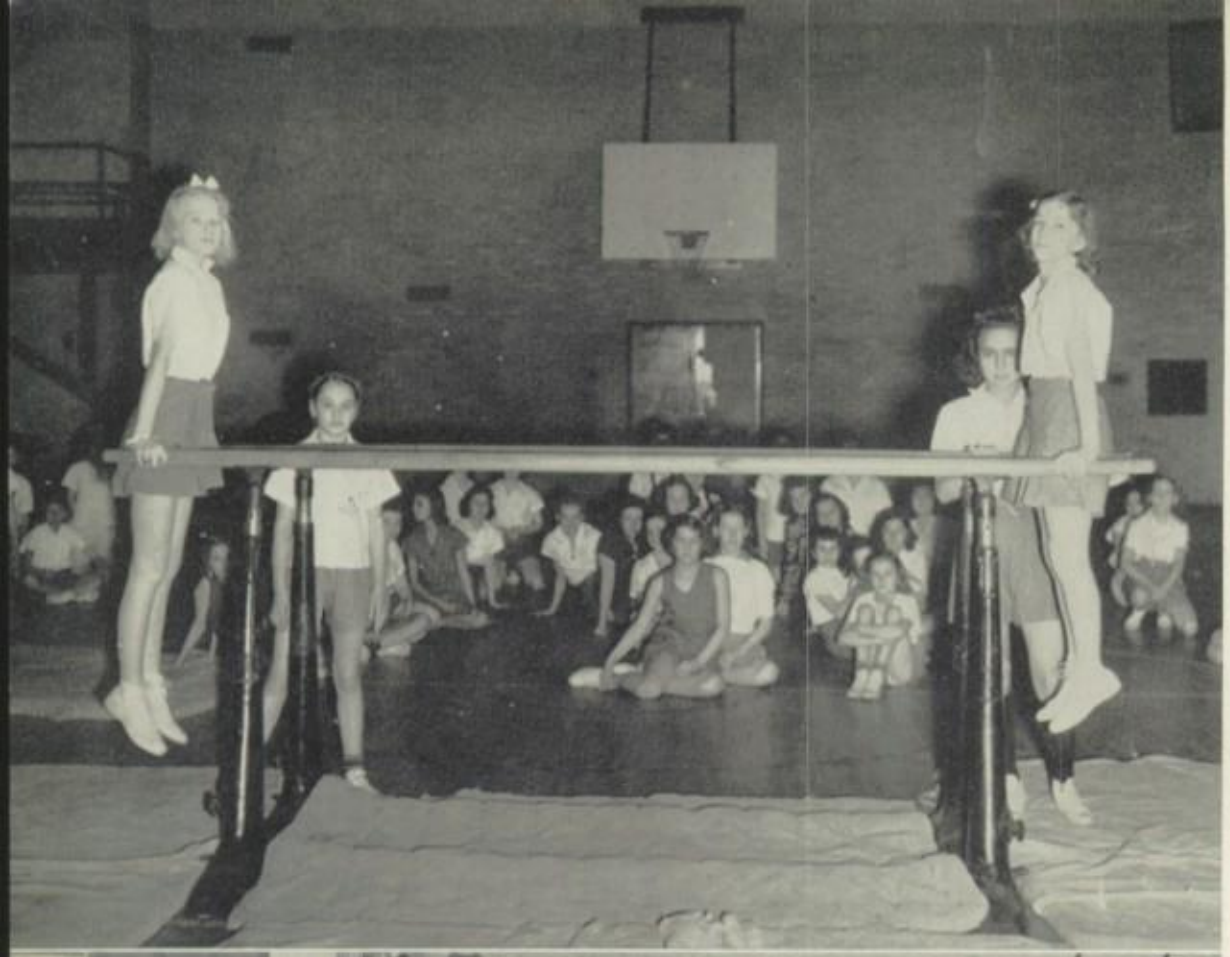
Making School Life Pleasant For Us

The Domestic Arts---Future Home Makers

• Learning to sew and cook and manage a home are popular courses for the high school girl. In the picture below the girls who are planning a breakfast, which is a yearly project, are Mary Jane Watson, Dorothy Osmonson, and Verna Jackson.

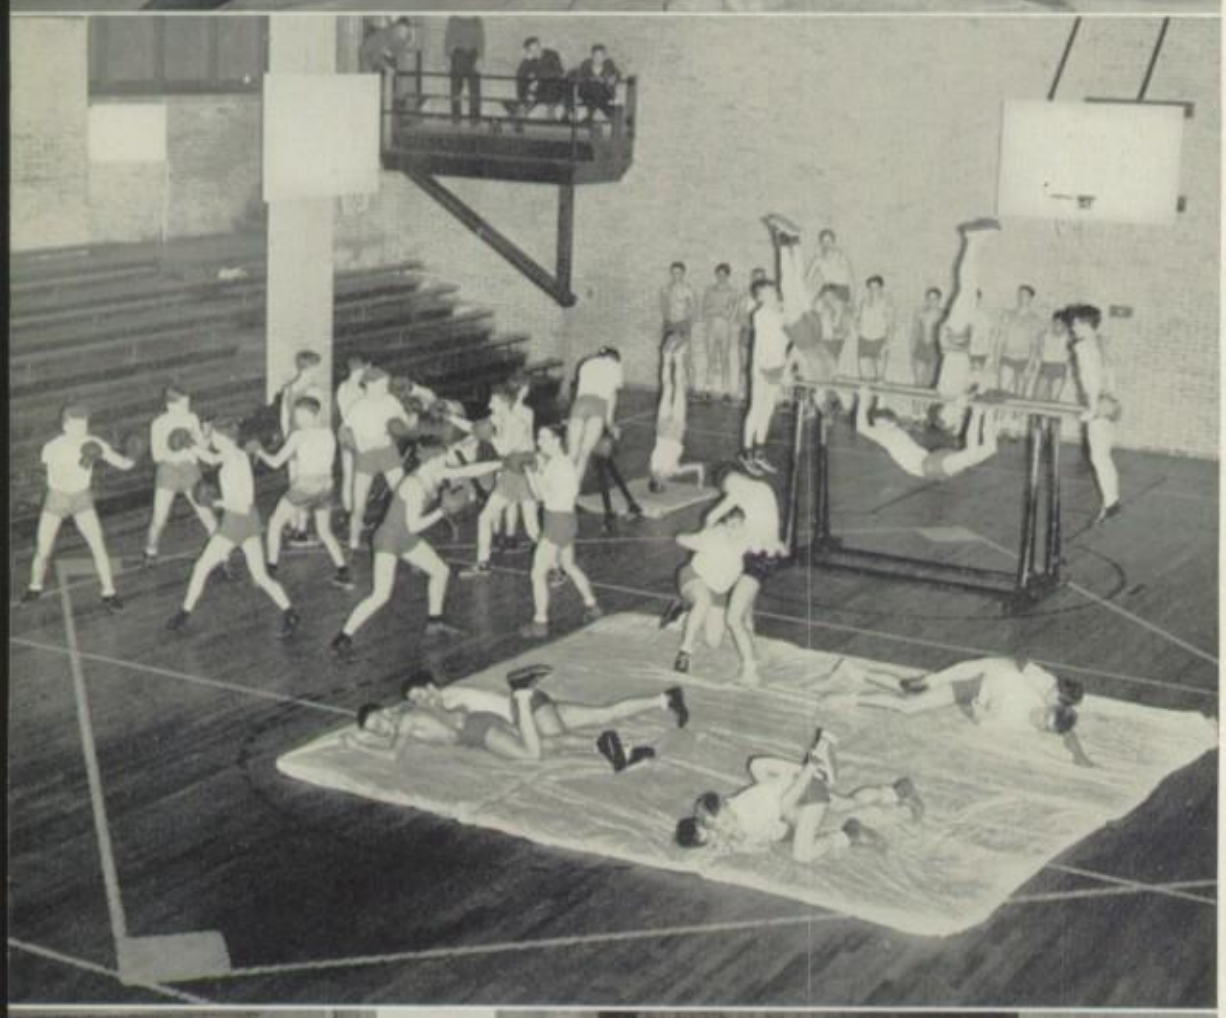
Making one's own dress is an achievement of girls enrolled in sewing. At the machine is Muriel Conklin while Betty Barneck is assisting Virginia Brant.

In the lower picture Eunice Underland and Lois Utley are demonstrating economy in food preparation to the home management class.



Wholesome Sport

• Rose Godfredson and Cleone Wanous are showing their class their ability in exercising. The girls in all the physical education classes are trained to be mentally alert, physically strong, and emotionally well balanced. The work consists of fundamental skills, rhythm, sports, and swimming. The objective in swimming is not to develop champions but to teach every girl how to handle herself safely in the water.

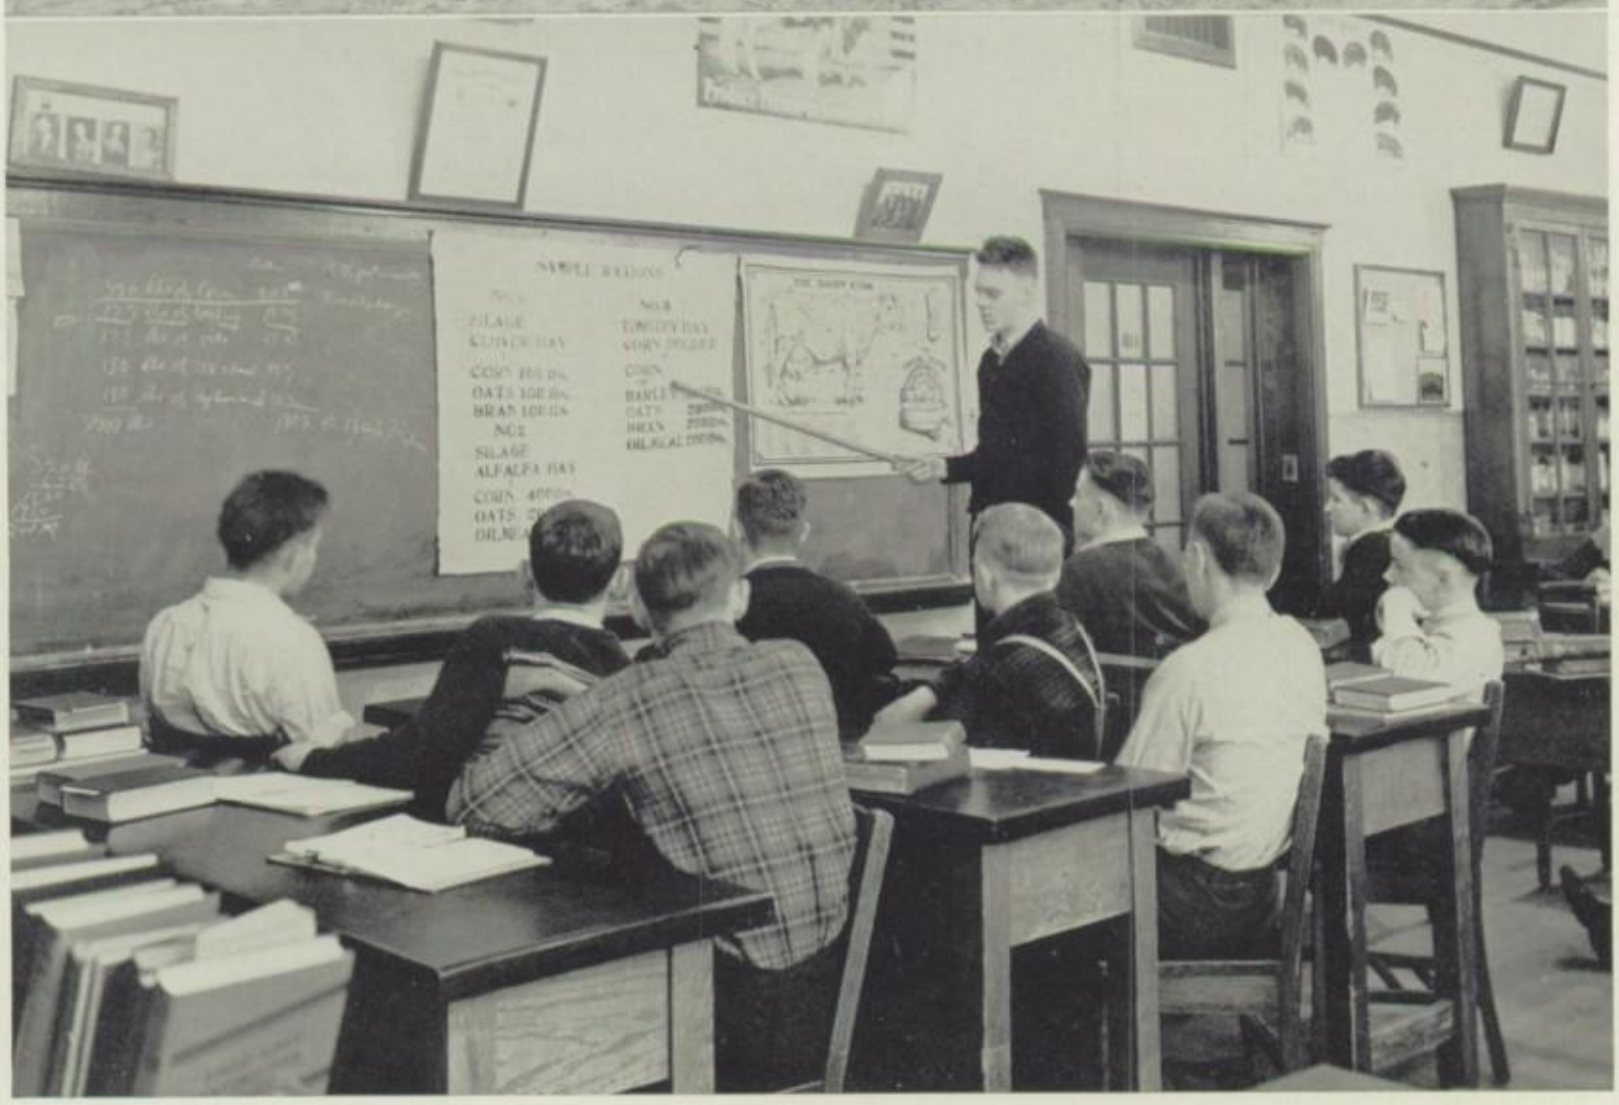


Good Fellowship

• Here we see a boys' physical education class happily engaged in all types of healthful exercise. In addition to regular gym classes, boys take part in football, basketball, swimming, wrestling, boxing, tumbling, track, tennis, golf, kittenball, touchball, soccer ball, baseball, and speedball. The objective of the physical education course is to build a strong body and to enjoy doing it at the same time.

For Health's Sake

• Pictured to the left is Miss Gladys Chalberg, school nurse, getting the correct weight of school children which is a part of the physical examination of each child. Dental, vision, and audiometer or hearing tests are also features of the health program. The school nurses make routine visits to each school every morning. They also make home calls after a child has been absent three days.



"Learning To Do---Doing To Learn"

• Judging of sheep as shown in the upper picture is a practical project of boys in the agricultural department. Learning the principles of livestock management, diagnosis of disease and methods of control, livestock selection and breeding, are features of the advanced agriculture classes.

In the lower picture we see Donald Bunge discussing to his agricultural class suitable rations for livestock. The principles of crop and animal production, farm prices, and marketing are also important phases of study in this department.

Youth enjoys the friendships of high school days

A Journey After Hours

Youth in Austin High School are fortunate in having such an interesting array of extra-curricular activities from which to choose. Each boy and girl in his journey through his high school career may select those activities for which he is best suited. Youth learns through his contact with others the value of friendship and cooperation. Clubs and organizations, closely related to classroom activity, enliven the interest and enthusiasm. Youth experiences relations in his extra-curricular activities which prepare him to meet world problems of future citizenship.

Recording Memories Of Our High School Journey

• To publish a yearbook which is complete with the pictorial and editorial record of the high school and all its activities has been the aim of the 1940 Austinian staff.

Approximately fifty seniors enrolled in journalism as well as other English classes composed the staff. The editorial group had charge of planning the Austinian, the taking of pictures, writing copy, and proof-reading galley proofs. The business group has been in charge of circulation, the subscription campaign, advertising sales, and the proper budgeting of the book.

Staff members and the editorial and business adviser, Miss Rachel D. Gardner, have tried to make the Austinian as enjoyable as possible. Emphasizing Youth's Journey, they have tried to maintain a unifying idea consistent with the interests of the students.

All-American and Medalist honor ratings have been the honor awards of the yearbook. The staff this year has endeavored to maintain this high rating.

Personalities Of The Press---Journalists

●"To encourage scholarship, stimulate sportsmanship, and develop friendship." This is the policy of the the staff members of "The Austin Sentinel" in the publication of this biweekly newspaper.

Maintaining as high a standard as possible, the Sentinel has had numerous high honor ratings since the first publication in November, 1925, among them being All-American and Medalist. With a changed format to a seven-column newspaper and a new headline schedule this year, the Sentinel tends to the trend of modern school newspapers.

Being a member of Quill and Scroll, the international honor society for high school journalists, is the desire of every journalist.

To become a member a student must be in the upper one-third of his class scholastically. His printed material is submitted to Northwestern University with the recommendation of the adviser.

The officers this year were: Robert Scholl, president; Norton Gilman, vice president; Lorraine Dalager, secretary-treasurer. Miss Rachel D. Gardner is the adviser.

Clean Living, Clean Thinking, And Scholarship

• To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character is the purpose of the Hi-Y. The platform is clean living, clean speech, clean scholarship, clean athletics, and contagious Christian character.

Officers of the Hi-Y were: Donald M. Anderson, president; Charles Winn, vice president; John Peterson, secretary; Richard Hartquist, treasurer. The advisers are Mr. Sedoris McCartney and Mr. Johnel Golberg.

The meetings are discussional, recreational, or social in nature. The club believes that fine Christian living is red-blooded and manly.

The club tries to group together, both in formal and informal ways, the boys who subscribe to the ideals of Christian teaching. They then locate areas of service to the school and community.

Toward A Vision Of Wisdom Through Service

• Thirty-six seniors were eligible for the Senior National Honor Society this year. Sixteen students of the ninth grade were admitted to the Junior National Honor Society.

To be a member of these organizations requires that the student be in the upper one-third of his class scholastically, and that he is recommended by a committee of the faculty on the basis of character, leadership, and service. The homerooms also were given an opportunity to make their choice of those worthy of membership.

The induction ceremony took place at the junior and senior high school assemblies, May 3. Principal L. J. Gustafson presided, and a program consisting of talks by the students and musical selections was presented. Parents and friends attended the impressive assemblies.

The Austin National Honor Society was organized in 1931.

They Are Aspiring to Higher Things

●"What is in order for this meeting?" This is the general question in all Senior High Cabinet meetings every Wednesday morning at 11:30 o'clock. The group is composed of a representaive from each homeroom. His or her duty is to bring to the meeting the ideas and problems from his homeroom for discussion and solution. Officers this year were: Clayton Gute, president; Stephen Wright, vice president; Norma Elmer, secretary; Mrs. Blanche Black, faculty adviser.

The Junior High Cabinet has also accomplished much this year in exchanging ideas and making suggestions for the betterment of the Junior High School. They have strived to put forth every effort to accomplish the purpose of the organization. Officers were: president, Thomas Clareson; vice president, Arlene Fett; secretary, Jay Gildner; Miss Evelyn Sponberg, adviser.

• The Junior High Drama Club under the direction of Miss Evelyn Sponberg is composed of pupils from the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades. The officers of the club are: president, Dan Dougherty; vice president, Dick Lilygren; secretary, Blanche Nasby; treasurer, Walter Nordin. This club has accomplished many things this year, including using the recording system, which proved very beneficial.

Membership in Dirk and Bauble is limited to seniors who have earned the required number of points by participation in dramatic activities. At the bimonthly meetings the club has studied the history of drama, acting techniques, make-up, and current broadway plays. The officers this year are: president, Jean Guy; vice president, Margaret Hackbarth; secretary-treasurer, Nancy Gillam; corresponding secretary, Marie Magee; faculty adviser, Miss Jean Daugherty.

"When The Little Angel Sang"

●"As the Little Angel departs, a great silence falls upon the hilltop. The pale stars fade into the blackness of the sky. Then suddenly the heavens seem to open, and there is a radiant white light, a mother holds in her arms a sleeping infant. Never in all his happiest dreams, has the little shepherd seen a face so pure, so loving, and so kind." This description was written by Assistant Principal M. C. Knudson and Miss Ruth Anne Olson.

The outstanding feature of the Junior High Drama Club this year was their Christmas play, "When the Little Angel Sang," at an assembly, and at an evening performance for the public, December 18. The play was under the direction of Miss Evelyn Sponberg.

Dramatists Take The Spotlight

• The outstanding project of the Dirk and Bauble members this year was the presentation of three one-act plays, March 5, under the direction of Miss Jean Daugherty. "A MESSAGE FROM KHUFU" was a serious drama which brought tragedy in an Egyptian tomb to three of its characters. "MUSHROOMS COMING UP" a comedy, is the story of four women who imagine distressing pains when they mistakenly believe they have eaten toadstools in place of mushrooms. "THE MAN IN THE BOWLER HAT" was "a terribly exciting affair." The character parts were all amusingly portrayed.

• Thirteen students of the junior class of Austin High School were chosen for parts in the junior class play entitled "BIG HEARTED HERBERT" directed by Miss Ruth Anne Olsen.

This play was based on the every day happenings of an average American family of the modern age. A large crowd was present to enjoy this presentation by talented young actors. The production staff did a fine job in making the play successful.

"On Board Ship"

• Anchors, life savers, moon, stars, ocean, and the ship itself provided the spectacular setting for the annual junior-senior prom on Friday, May 26, 1939.

After finishing the delectable banquet in the enthralling atmosphere of the sea, Clayton Gute, as master of ceremonies, started the guests on their journey of the sea with a fine program. Later dancing was enjoyed in the gymnasium to the tuneful strains of Hal Leonard and his orchestra, who were playing from the deck of the ship.

• As a Valentine feature, "The Love Charm," a one-act fantasy, proved a delightful assembly. The production which was staged by the Junior Friendship Club was under the efficient direction of Miss Willa M. Church. The costumes were those of the Italian fourteenth and fifteenth centuries.

Each year the Friendship Club, supervised by Miss Helen L. Boddy, sponsors a W.P.A. week during which the girls escort the boys to entertainments and pay all expenses.

As a project of the homerooms, Thanksgiving baskets, complete with food, are given to the underprivileged families of the community. This event is sponsored by the junior-senior high school.

• Music hath its charms—and this is especially true of the Austin High School Orchestra. The first group of stringed instruments was organized in 1921 with a total of eight members. There is now a personnel of seventy-one musicians in this group.

In conjunction with the high school band and chorus, the orchestra has appeared before the public in six concerts. It also took part in the Big Eight Music Festival held at Red Wing, May 10.

The officers of this fine musical organization are: president, Jean Johnson; vice president, Victor Cadwallader; secretary and treasurer; Shirley Armstrong.

Some of the selections played by the orchestra consisted of "Finlandia" by the famous Finnish composer, Jan Sibelius; "The Blue Hawaiian Waters" by Ketelby, "Procession of the Sardar" from "Caucasian Sketches" by M. Ippolitan-Iwanow, and "Andante Cantabile" from "Beethoven's First Symphony."

The high school orchestra is under the able direction of Mr. C. Vittorio Sperati.

Athletic achievement with the spirit of fair play

A Journey To The Sports World

Youth has always been interested in obtaining bodily vigor. Through a complete program of athletics and physical education in Austin High School, Youth's Journey is characterized by valued experiences gained in a curricular and an extra-curricular program. The ideals of grace, strength, and poise are Youth's attainments in these activities. He acquires bodily perfection and fair play. In Austin High School, Youth learns how to live healthily and to be cooperative through a program of group activities. Athletic achievements and skill also play a part in this journey into the sports world.

Austin missed winning the Big Eight Championship by one point. They were defeated by the Red Wing team 7 to 6.

L. Vogel, regular end, E. Woodward, guard, and D. Ball, backfield, were placed on the all-conference team.

The outstanding game was the Homecoming event against Waterloo when Austin pulled a victory over this strong team with a score 13 to 0.

Austin had one of the strongest defensive lines in the conference supported with a good center. The Scarlets reached their peak of perfection when they played against their old rival, Alber Lea, winning by a margin of 48 to 0.

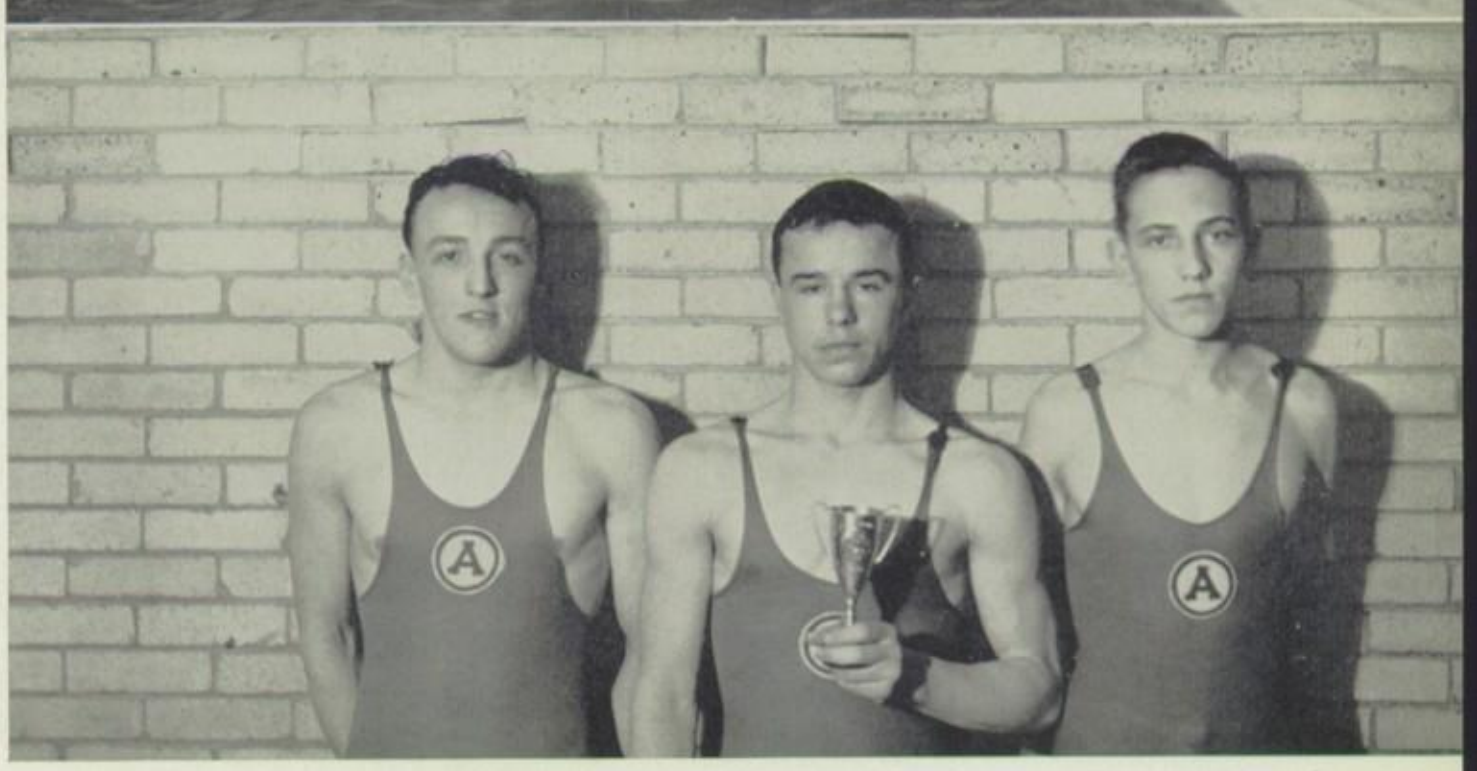
State Winners

Bruce Hall, Lewis Anderson, and Wallace Hanson form the fastest medley relay team in Minnesota. They hold records at Gustavus Adolphus College and St. Thomas College. They came within four-tenths of a second from establishing a new state record in the medley relay. They were undefeated during the season.



• In tying for the Big Eight title and dropping only one decision during the season, the Scarlet tank men rated a place among the first five in state swimming circles. Under the direction of Coach E. Silvernagle, the team placed fifth in the state prep meet, second in the St. Thomas meet, and trailed the winner at Gustavus Adolphus by only two points.

In their first meeting with Rochester, they trailed 35 to 31. In their second meet, the Scarlets defeated their foe, 36-30. The team bettered twelve records throughout the season with individual honors going to Lewis Anderson, a junior breaststroker.

Aquatic Triumphs

Fore!

• Attracting considerable attention this spring, golf played an important role in sports. Several meets with Big Eight schools were played.

Holding the Big Eight title from 1939, the team coached by J. A. Kentta got off to a good start. Wallace Ulrich who had won the state American Legion title as well as other players were missed.

Coach Kentta, E. Woodward, R. Gillam, A. Nelson, J. Peterson, L. Wolcott, D. Corey, W. McKenna, R. Hartquist, R. Lilygren.

Flashing Racquets

• The highlight of the tennis season was the staging of the Big Eight Conference meet at the fine new courts with all the modern facilities. Returning to the squad this year were four lettermen, chief of whom were Owen Berg and Dick Peterson. Other players with experience were Elmer Yaroshek and Robert Moline. Coach E. Schroeder was in charge.

Hit And Run

• Eleven games and two tournaments were on the baseball schedule this spring. Fifty-seven boys answered Coach "Phil" Golberg's call for players.

D. Bulger, L. Vogel, E. Cherney, L. Holt, O Hovland, S. Kulas, and R. Hallman were veterans returning.

Flying Cinders

• Forty-five boys responded to Coach Silvernagle's call for track this spring. Last year's squad included D. Anderson, V. Hardwick, W. Marqueson, C. Winn, S. Wright, L. Hamilton, R. Neve. The season's meets consisted of all-invitational meets because of construction work at the athletic field.

Wrestling

• The wrestling teams which had been inactive for several years were organized again this year by Coaches Hardy and Hastings.

The matmen will lose through graduation James Taylor, who with Knute Knutson was co-captain. Others graduating are R. Watson, B. Strong, L. Hamilton and H. Lerud. T. Stanton and V. Heimsness are next year's captains.

Row one—A. Johnson, V. Heimsness, L. Solyst, V. Houff, H. Regner, C. Houff.

Row two—W. Biewen, R. Hoskins, R. Snell, R. Gauker, M. Sathre, D. Hogan.

Row three—Coach Hardy, T. Stanton, L. Hamilton, J. Taylor, G. Dreyer, B. Strong, H. Lerud.

Bowling

• Sixty candidates reported for the 1939-40 bowling season. They were divided into two leagues, bowling Monday and Tuesday afternoons. Each league was composed of six teams with four students and a faculty member to each team.

Butorac's team finished with the highest team average. Dick Holleque had the highest individual pin average.

Row one—R. Neve, P. Sathre, V. Hardwick, A. Brustad. Row two—J. Williams, R. Anker, D. Kaibel, L. Wolcott, K. Marmesh, K. Fox.

Sportsmanship Among The Girls

• To play for play's sake is the motto of every G. A. A. girl whose achievement is to win a letter. A girl may earn points through a creditable variety of activities which includes speedball, volleyball, swimming, deck tennis, tetherball, ping pong, archery, and skating. During the short but remaining spring periods the girls are active with kittenball and tennis.

It is necessary to have a total of 1500 points for a letter which can be made by participating in enough practices so as to qualify a girl for a team. Each of these girls is this year's letter winner and is proud to wear her hard-earned letters. Miss Hildegarde Hein is the girls' physical education director.

• Volleyball was one of the winter sports which took the fancy of the girls this year. Practices were held once each week, Wednesday being the official day. Volleyball is played entirely with the hands and in order to be a quick and skillful player, one must be able to attend practices regularly. The ninth, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade girls were instructed by Miss Hildegarde Hein. The junior high girls, who are in the seventh and eighth grades, were instructed by Miss Doris Thysell.

Also holding its own position in the top-ranking sports is basketball. The practices were held on Wednesday afternoon. The seventh and eighth grade girls practiced at Sumner school. The ninth, eleventh, and twelfth grade girls played under the supervision of Miss Hildegarde Hein.

Stamina

Speedball

• Speedball is an exciting game played on the athletic field. This game is somewhat like soccer only the girl may handle the ball while in soccer that would be a penalty.

Baseball

• The G. A. A. girls follow Spaulding's official outdoor baseball rules for girls and women. This is a much faster game and more difficult than kittenball for the reason that the bases are farther apart and the base runner may take a lead-off base.

Tetherball

• Tetherball is a new and different game introduced by Miss Hein in the high school.

Two girls may participate in this game. A ball, fastened to a string attached to the top of a pole, is kept in circular motion by the two girls with paddles. Two of the girls who set a very good example of a fine game are Betty Bjerke and Bonnie Olson.

Comradeship---Wholesome Recreation

• When spring approached, the mermaids turned their attention to swimming. Swimming was the sport in which each individual was able to show his own ability. Points were obtained for each achievement in diving. Under the very capable direction of Miss Hildegarde Hein, the girls set a high standard of work in both swimming and diving.

Like Robin Hood we doth strive to make good our aim—and thus there were many participants in archery. Archery is only for senior high girls, but since its introduction into girls' sports, which has only been a short time ago, it has been received with great enthusiasm.

TENNIS

PING PONG

• Ping pong or table tennis is a new activity with many fans. Pictured are four active ping pong players, Maxine Hansen, Dorothy Hamilton, Jeanette Tinberg, and Elaine Wangen.

DECK TENNIS

• Deck tennis is a sport of no championship but points may be earned by any girl toward a G. A. A. letter.

Dorothy Hovey, Elizabeth Grise, Barbara Fisch, and Donna Lou Stephenson are demonstrating the game.

"You can't tell the players without a scorecard!"

Actually . . . . this statement is echoing a simple but fundamental principle of newspaper advertising.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING is the scorecard for intelligent shoppers. It does more than identify a product, however. It tells where the product is available, and at what price. About thousands of products, thousands of necessities and conveniences, it gives accurate information instantly . . . . information that one individual could not secure, even after the most painstaking and weary search.
